Dewey was born in Vermont. But that wasn't his fault.

Kansas has a feathered woman, and she isn't a "little duck" either.

Admiral Watson may be all right, but Dewey made an easy job for him.

Last week was a sort of off week in New Jersey. She incubated only five trusts.

If that big railroad trust talked about matures it will be the biggest thing on wheels.

Lime is a pretty good disinfectant, but "whitewashing" the canned roast beef will not save Alger.

There is a cheesy flavor about Wisconsin. She annually makes 10,000,000 pounds of that sort of stuffing.

As an illustration of what the American girl can do when she hustles, a $9,000,000 chewing gum trust has been formed.

Funston says when there is any fun looming up over there "the Kansas fellows may be counted on to take a place in the vicinity of the band wagon."

Mrs. Childs denies the story that she is going to marry Joe Wheeler. She's "not for Joe," and besides she is too old to be playing pranks with boys.

The Chattanooga Times is "still skeptical about that $800,000,000 iron and steel trust." There are some men who will not believe anything.

A Missouri anti-trust law provides that trusts cannot collect debts due to them in that State. This will have a tendency to prevent the trusts from doing a trust business in that province.

Tom Edison is said to be so absent minded that he sometimes forgets to take himself along when he goes anywhere. When he travels by rail he generally buys his ticket by proxy, to prevent him from forgetting it, but very often he forgets the proxy.

A French birdologist says if all the insect eating birds were removed from the earth it wouldn't take the bugs, &c., more than nine years to eat up everything green on the face of it. Think of this, you foolish bird butchers, and see how birdie is earning his living and helping people along.

THE A. & Y. DIVIDED.

The Southern Railway Gets Control of Section From Sanford to Mount Airy.

IMPORTANT MEETINGS HELD.

W. and W. Road Retains Division of A. and Y. Between Wilmington and Sanford—Freight Rate Concessions in Wilmington's Favor.

As a result of meetings held in this city yesterday by the stockholders of the Wilmington and Weldon and the Atlantic and Yadkin Railroad companies that section of the Atlantic and Yadkin westward of Sanford, to Mt. Airy, a distance of 131 miles, passes into the hands of the Southern Railway Company, the Wilmington and Weldon Railroad Company retaining that part of the road between Wilmington and Sanford, including the Bennettsville branch, altogether about 175 miles.

STAR readers will remember that at the public sale of the old Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley road, made on December 29th of last year, it was purchased by parties interested in the Atlantic Coast Line with a view to consolidating this road with the Wilmington and Weldon. And a STAR representative was informed yesterday that arrangements had so far advanced in this direction that a mortgage for the purpose had been authorized and bonds engraved. However, the whole scheme, as announced above, has been abandoned, and the Sanford-Mt. Airy division of the road transferred to the Southern Railway Company.

The meeting of the W. & W. stockholders held yesterday was really an adjourned special meeting from April 26th, and was held in the office of the company at noon. The meeting of the A. & Y. stockholders was held about the same time.

As a result of the deal perfected yesterday most of the general officers of the Atlantic & Yadkin Railway Company presented their resignations, and Col. A. B. Andrews, of Raleigh, N. C., was elected president; Mr. W. W. Finley, of Washington, D. C., vice president; Mr. F. S. Gannon, of Washington, D. C, general manager, and Mr. H. W. Miller, of Raleigh, N. C., secretary. These officials will have charge of the Atlantic & Yadkin Railway, which now extends only from Sanford to Mount Airy; the division from Wilmington to Sanford and the Bennettsville branch remaining a branch of the W. & W.

Mr. Jas. F. Post, Jr., remains as treasurer, and Mr. W. A. Risch, as general auditor, until the statements of the Atlantic & Yadkin Railway Company, as it has formerly existed, can be put in proper shape to be turned over to their successors.

Conditions of the Deal.

In speaking of the conditions upon which the division of the A. and Y. was made between the W. and W. and the Southern companies, several prominent officials told a STAR representative yesterday evening that it is particularly stipulated in the contract that the territory of the Southern Railway west and southwest of Greensboro, in this State, is to be open to Wilmington at the same freight rates which may from time to time prevail from and to Norfolk and Richmond, and that the relation of rates as between communities proper on the line between Wilmington and Mt. Airy, of what was formerly the C. F. and Y. V. will not be disturbed and the distribution of traffic between such communities will continue as heretofore.

STAR readers will remember that a few days ago announcement was made that a conference eminently satisfactory to the Wilmington Tariff Association had been held by the directors of that organization and the traffic managers of the Southern and Atlantic Coast Line railroads concerning the adjustment of freight rates so that Wilmington wholesale merchants and other shippers will be placed on an equal footing with dealers in Norfolk and Richmond.

This conference, it is now stated, was in fact a result of these negotiations, and it is believed by many will result in very greatly extending the territory in which Wilmington dealers can successfully compete in the wholesale trade against competitive wholesale centres.

Railroad Magnates Here.

Among those from a distance who participated in the railroad meetings here yesterday were Mr. B. F. Newcomer and Mr. Jenkins, of Baltimore; Col. A. B. Andrews and Mr. H. W. Miller, of Raleigh, and Mr. Alexander Hamilton, of Petersburg. Mr. Harry Walters was, of course, here from Baltimore. All these gentlemen left the city in private cars attached to the 7 P. M. train yesterday.

Death in Railroad Accident.

A telegram was received in the city yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Francis S. Quinn, announcing that her son, Mr. Charles A. Quinn, had been killed near Macon, Ga., by the explosion of a locomotive near that city yesterday morning. The young man was in the employ of the railroad company and was about 31 years of age. He was born in Wilmington February 23d, 1868, and his mother lives at No. 619 Harnett street. She with a father, Mr. James Quinn, who now resides in Florida, a brother living in the country, and one sister, Mrs. W. B. Savage, of this city, survive him. The remains will be brought here for interment; funeral notice to be made later.

SPECIAL COMMITTEE HAS COMPLETED ITS WORK.

Ready for the Masonic Ceremonies Thursday—Members of Grand Lodge and Homes Assigned Them.

The STAR referred yesterday to the preparations now in progress for the Masonic ceremonies on Thursday of this week, when the corner-stone for the magnificent new Masonic Temple is laid. The committee to whom this work has been committed has now about completed the arrangement of the programme.

The exercises will be held at 4 P. M. on Front street, where the temple is being erected. The Grand Lodge will be here, and the order of the ceremonies will be the opening of the lodge in St. John's hall, followed by a procession from the hall up Market street to Third, up Third to Chesnut, down to Front and thence to the site for the new temple.

The Knights Templar will serve as an escort for the Grand Lodge during the parade, and all the Masons of the subordinate lodges will be in the procession, as will the Second Regiment Band.

The committee on arrangements has made all necessary preparations for the cordial and highly creditable entertainment of the members of the Grand Lodge. Those who have signified their intention to come and the homes to which they have been assigned are as follows:

ANOTHER NEW BUILDING.

Messrs. I. M. Bear and J. J. Sternberger Preparing to Build on North Front Street.

Yesterday Messrs. I. M. Bear and J. J. Sternberger purchased from Mr. B. Marks, of Norfolk, the vacant lot on Front street, opposite the Rhenstein building, between the Seaboard Air Line building and the building occupied by Messrs. Sternberger Bros. The purchasers propose to erect at once a handsome four-story building 66x165 feet.

To a STAR reporter Mr. Bear said last night that his present plans are to erect a building adapted to hotel purposes, having the office on the street floor and a store room on either side. The plans of the building have not yet been drawn. They are negotiating with a well known hotelist who is desirous of opening a "Two dollar-a-day house" in Wilmington.

The building is to have a thoroughly handsome and up-to-date pressed brick and French plate glass front and will be an ornament to that part of the city.

Red Men Returned.

Great Sachem J. R. Davis, of the Great Council of North Carolina, Red Men; Great Sannap W. H. Lane and Representative E. P. H. Strunck returned last evening from Raleigh, where they have been attending the Grand Council of the Improved Order of Red Men. Mr. Strunck at the session was appointed a trustee of the order, to serve for one year. Through the efforts of these gentlemen, the place of meeting for the Great Council next year has been appointed at Wilmington on May 13th, and Eyota Tribe, this far in advance, guarantees to the members of same a royal welcome.

— Mr. E. B. Borden, of Goldsboro, was a visitor in the city yesterday.

PREPARING FOR THE 1899 BEACH SEASON.

Progress of Improvements on Wrightsville Beach and Carolina Beach—Club Openings This Week.

Within a very short time now Wilmington's 1899 season as a Summer resort will be well opened, and the city, Wrightsville Beach and Carolina Beach will be thronged with pleasure seekers. With a view to, according to the visitors, the very best possible service, the Wilmington Seacoast road, and Capt. Harper, of the steamer Wilmington, have put in thorough repair their respective transportation equipments, and a service superior to that of any previous season is assured all prospective visitors.

The Wilmington Seacoast Railroad Company has just completed an entirely new tressle over Banks' channel, and put in thorough repair all other sections of the track. The rolling stock of the road has been put in excellent repair, and all the cars thoroughly renovated.

The season on Wrightsville Beach really opens this week. Manager R. E. Crawford, of the Seashore Hotel, and Mrs. Campbell, mother of Mr. George Campbell, the general proprietor of the Seashore, will arrive here the latter part of the week to put the hotel in readiness for the entertainment of guests at the earliest possible date.

Probably seventy five carpenters are now at work on the new Ocean View Hotel, so that there is no doubt that this admirably designed hostelry will be ready for Mrs. Mayo by June 1st. The new public bath houses are about completed.

Manager F. L. Woodruff, of the Bell Telephone Company, is getting the telephone service in thorough repair. The central office will be moved from Wrightsville to the beach in a new office being erected for the purpose in the rear of Mr. Mike Corbett's cottage. The exchange will be opened Wednesday. All the 'phones on Bradley's Creek and Greenville Sound will be operated through this exchange, which will be equipped with enlarged and up to-date switch-boards. The trunk lines between Wilmington and the beach have been increased and a cable placed in Banks' channel. All these improvements will enable the company to give a much better service than ever before and at lower rates.

Club House Openings.

The Atlantic Club house has been opened to guests for the past week and it is understood that the formal opening will be on next Friday night.

The Carolina Club will be opened for the season to-morrow. The house committee has not yet decided when the opening function will be given.

Several families have already moved down to the beach for the season, and many others will follow just as soon as the schools close. The several new cottages now in course of construction are being pushed promptly to completion, and all of them will be ready by June 1st.

On Carolina Beach.

Captain Harper will put on a regular schedule with the steamer Wilmington next Monday. Captain Jenkens, of the Oceanic Hotel, expects to have the improvements on that building completed in that time. It will be remembered that he is moving the hotel back, adding a spacious double poach and thoroughly renovating the place.

Captain Harper will run an excursion to the beach to-day, leaving the city at 2:30 P. M. and returning about 7 o'clock.

Sedgeley Hall Club.

There was a meeting of the members of Sedgeley Hall Club last night, at which it was decided to open the club house next Saturday and have the formal opening some time during the following week. On that day an excursion will be run from the city, and a dance will be given at night. They appointed a house committee, consisting of Messrs. J. W. Yates, M. E. Gillican, Fred Bolles, Joe H. Hinton and J. H. Cowan.

Hanover Seaside Club will have their formal opening as early after the Summer schedule is put on as possible. The date is not yet announced.

License Taxes.

Sheriff MacRae and his genial assistant, Mr. Owen Fennell, together with Register of Deeds Biddle are making things ready for the prompt collection of the license tax that, according to the provisions of the new revenue act, will be due June 1st. License taxes, payable June 1st, are classed as follows: Theatres, billiard tables, slot machines, mercantile agencies, druggists, dealing in spirituous liquors, Piano and organ dealers, pawnbrokers, lawyers, physicians, dentists, carpenters, auctioneers, bicycle dealers, real estate agencies, dealers in theatre tickets, butchers, coal and wood dealers, collection agencies, cotton compresses, cotton, factors, hotels, photographers, laundrymen, lumber dealers, undertakers and horse dealers. Many of these have hitherto been allowed to do business without payment of taxes, but later, notice will be given and collections promptly enforced.

On account of commencement exercises Oak Ridge Institute, Oak Ridge, N. C., May 20th to 25th, the Seaboard Air Line will sell round trip tickets to Summerville or Kernersville, N. C., at $6.30 for the round trip. Tickets to be sold May 19th to 22d, inclusive, with final limit to May 29th, 1899.

TAXING RAILROADS.

A New Assessment of Properties to be Made by the Corporation Commission.

OTHER NEWS FROM RALEIGH.

Compulsory Vaccination—Naval Reserves. State Guard—Board of Internal Improvements to Elect Directors of the A. & N. C. Railroad.

[Special Star Correspondence.]

RALEIGH, N. C. May 13.

Mayor Powell this morning sent Isaiah Blake, a white man, to jail for thirty days, for refusing to be vaccinated. He offered no defence and when the commitment was made out, he asked to be allowed to take it himself to the sheriff. He was allowed to do so. Blake is a cotton mill operative and professes sanctification. He has promised the Mayor, policeman and deputy sheriff and jailor to pray for them "and all the rest of this wicked world."

Some half a dozen individual members of the State Guard have written to the Adjutant General notifying him that they will attend the military jubilee in Washington May 22, 23 and 24. No entire company in the Guard has as yet signified its intention of going.

The latest accessions to the penitentiary are three convicts from Lenoir—all one year each.

Corporation Commission.

For the past two days the Corporation Commission has been looking into the question of the taxation of railroads in North Carolina with a view to making a new assessment of railroad property. This assessment will be made in June, and it is certain that it will show a very large increase over the present valuation.

Prof. Massey reports that the insect doing so great damage to peas around Newbern is the common green fly. It has never before been known to attack peas. Tobacco dust or stems will kill it.

Superintendent Mebane requests county boards desiring county institutes this Summer to notify him at once.

Naval Reserves.

Governor Russell has been notified by the Secretary of the Navy that the Naval Reserves battalion of North Carolina will receive $2,328.15 as their share of the naval militia fund of the Federal government. The money will be used for equipping the Naval Reserves with guns, haversacks, canteens and ammunition. The government furnishes uniforms outside of this appropriation. The Reserves will be armed with Lee magazine rifles of the very latest pattern. They already have a large Hotchkiss gun.

Lieut. O. H. Dockery, Jr., U. S. A., is here to-day, on his way to Columbus, Ohio, where he is ordered to duty at the recruiting station.

Sheriff Jones' Shortage.

The County Commissioners have not yet completed the examination of Sheriff Jones' accounts, and so the exact amount of his shortage cannot yet be stated. An official statement by the examining committee is promised next Tuesday. An agent of the Fidelity and Deposit Company, in which his bond is given, is here looking after his company's interests.

[Special Star Telegram.]

Atlantic & North Carolina Railroad.

The Board of Internal Improvements has been called to meet here Wednesday, May 17th, for the purpose of electing directors of the Atlantic & North Carolina Railroad. They will immediately elect a president and make a demand on the old board for books and papers. If the demand is refused, a new suit will be started. The point decided by the Supreme Court in its recent decision was that the directors were chosen before the law was ratified. They acted on February 24th, whereas, their term of office did not begin till March 9th. Any action at that time, the court holds, was an infringement on the rights of the old board. Nothing is said as to what the board might do now.

The man put in jail here to-day for refusing to be vaccinated weakened this afternoon and agreed to be scratched. The cause of his surrender was that the mayor changed his sentence from thirty days in jail to thirty days on the roads.

To Dealers Only.

We are Commission Merchants for the sale of Grain, Provisions, Lard, Flours, all shipped us direct from packers and millers. It therefore stands reasonable that we should save you at least one profit less than you could buy from others. As we are first handlers—no profits between us and the packer—a wide awake dealer knows that a small margin of profit brings them trade, and it is very necessary that he must know or get left in the race if he fails to do so, hence he buys his goods from the leading source of supply, and we have that reputation and opportunities have not been neglected, hence our success. We are not in the old "Rut." We sell no low quality goods but give best quality at prices lower than others can figure their cost. We ask the retailers to consider their own interest as our success enables us to give him still closer prices when largely patronized. So take an interest in us and let us promptly go forward to a grand success. Correspond with us.

WILMINGTON. N. C.

SUNDAY MORNING, MAY 14, 1899.

SOME OF THE REASONS.

No State can be really and permanently prosperous until it becomes thoroughly self-reliant and self-sustaining. That State which comes the nearest to raising all the life sustaining foods, and to manufacturing all the articles of necessity comes the nearest to filling these conditions and is on the sure road to prosperity and wealth. Under certain conditions a State or section might become prosperous and wealthy and be simply a producer of some one or more things, for which the world had much need, for which there was a constant demand and which, could not be successfully grown in other sections, in anything like quantities sufficient to meet the world's needs, in other words have a practical manopoly in the production of some articles which the world must have. The Southern cotton planters made money before the war raising cotton, and the sugar planters made money raising sugar cane and making sugar, and tobacco planters made money growing tobacco, for these were all prime articles for which there was an open and constant market, and the area of cultivation and competition was nothing compared with what they are now. The planters had a dead sure thing in selling what they grew at remunerative prices, and they prospered and could afford to buy food stuffs and other things.

The cotton, sugar and tobacco growing States prospered, but who will say that they would not have prospered more if they had manufactured much of their own material—had made more of the things they needed and bought less. We hear much about the lack of prosperity in the South, the want of money and much poverty. There is some truth in this, but the South is not a poverty stricken section, although she may not be as prosperous as she ought or should be. There are reasons for this, some of which are given in the following extract from a speech recently delivered by Judge Powell, of Mississippi, at Vicksburg :

"The reason of our poverty is not hard to find. Take our average citizen He gets up in the morning and pulls on a pair of socks from Lynn, Mass.; puts on a pair of shoes from Boston; a suit of cloths from Philadelphia; goes into breakfast, draws up a chair made in Chicago, and eats from a table which came from Cincinnati; sweetens his coffee from Rio with sugar from Louisiana; takes a slice of ham cured in St. Louis, and butters a biscuit of Minnesota flour with oleomargarine which came from the Lord knows where; he eats South Carolina or Louisiana rice, and even the very grits upon his table were ground in some northern mill; he goes to his stable and puts a set of harness on a mule from Kentucky; hitches it to a wagon from Illinois, and drives over to his neighbor's and complains of hard times. Of course, times are hard when everything people eat, drink wear and drive came from somewhere else and only the atmosphere which he breathes is a home institution!"

Judge Powell was telling some home truths that had been told so often in somewhat different phraseology that the reader feels as if he was reading an old story, but every line of which is true, although not literally as true now as it would have been ten, five or even one year ago, for we are making some progress in providing home wants. But as the remarks we quote were intended by the speaker to apply to Mississippi they may possibly be literally true of that State.

While the South as a whole is making progress in the way of becoming self-sustaining it must be admitted that the progress is slow, and this is not altogether surprising under the circumstances. In the first place attention has been centered on the manufacture of cotton, in which much of the available capital found investment, and which has made gratifying and wonderful progress. More attention and more study have been given to this branch of manufacturing industry than to any other. As the field narrows, so to speak, and the inducements to embark in that industry become less attractive, attention will be turned to other fields where there is more room and the inducements more alluring. In the near future much capital, raised at home and from other States, will find investment in the iron manufacturing industry, which will in time become a great one.

Iron making might be appropriately called one of the parent industries, because it supplies the means or implements and machinery with which other industries are carried on, and without which they would be impossible. Other industries, if they they do not spring up simultaneously with iron manufacturing, will speedily follow, for every iron manufacturing section becomes a center of diversified manufactures.

But it takes time and money to do these things and with these the education of the people up to them. When the people are educated up to them then the co-operation will begin that will give them a start, and once started they will eventually succeed, although they may encounter discouraging obstacles in the beginning, for "revolutions never go backward." There isn't one man in a thousand who anticipated the success cotton manufacturing has met with in the South, while there were many who professed to know whereof they spoke who confidently predicted that cotton milling in the South would soon reach the limit of its possibilities, and yet it has proved a success, surpassing the anticipations of even the most sanguine. And so it will in time be with other industries that promise no more than cotton manufacturing did twenty-five years ago, nor so much.

The whole South may not become a great manufacturing section, but the time will come when the States bordering on the Blue Ridge, or what is known as the Piedmont belt of the South, will hum with diversified manufacturing industries. All the conditions necessary are herein found, and time and money, the first of which we have, the second of which will come, will make the realization of what may now seem like fancies of the visionary.

A PROPER ACTION.

The action taken by the Confederate veterans at Charleston in reference to the resolution offered by Gen. Stephen D. Lee, was a very proper one, and will not be misunderstood North or South. While Gen. Lee's resolution simply recognized the generous utterances of President McKinley when he said the Federal Government should aid in caring for the graves of the Confederate dead, it was open to misconstruction as a plea that the Federal Government assume the care of those graves as it does of the graves of the Federal soldiers, and hence the substitute was adopted favoring leaving the care of our dead in the late Confederate States and in Maryland to the women of the South, who have thus far cared for them with such faithful devotion; but welcoming any legislation looking to the care by the Federal Government of the graves of Confederates buried in Northern cities where there are too few Southern people to take proper care of them.

For more than a generation the Confederate soldiers' graves in the South have been cared for with a devotion which rather increases than diminishes with the years, and the second generation performs this sacred duty with as holy and patriotic zeal as their mothers did, and thus the sentiment of patriotism is kept alive, the history of our heroic and chivalrous dead preserved and impressed on the rising generation. It might not be so if this duty of caring for our dead were relinquished and given over to the Federal Government.

While they are in some sense the dead of the Republic, in whom every American who appreciates American valor should take an interest and of whom he should as an American be proud; in another sense, they are our dead, and we should esteem it our privilege to treasure their memories and care for their graves without the assistance of others.

Since copper has begun to go up it is said that aluminum, considering its weight and the various uses it can be put to, is cheaper than copper, while for many uses, especially in household utensils, it is decidedly preferable. A few years ago it cost too much for common use but now it can be bought for 33 cents a pound, while copper is worth nearly 20 cents.

SOME BASIC TRUTHS CLEVERLY STATED.

Politics didn't figure in the late meeting of the Confederate Veterans at Charleston, but there were some pretty healthy utterances which have a bearing upon politics as they affect the South, which the Northern politicians of the Republican stripe might study to some purpose. As an illustration of this we clip the following extract from the report of the committee on history:

"The recent movement to put the supremacy of the more educated and capable race upon a constitutional and legal basis, thus banishing the spectre of misrule from our borders, is steadily gaining progress. The reception given our benevolent intentions in the Philippines is certainly of a character likely to inspire a whole some respect for the manner of governing people of another blood who have started late in the in the race of civilization. We are not likely in the future to hear so much about the rights of men, who have not yet learned to goverp themselves, to govern others by their votes. The doctrine of the declaration of independence that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed, had something of a shock in the war between the States, and the island subjects of the United States will find little comfort in reading the celebrated instrument by the light of subsequent history. The difficulties of the race problem abroad ought to bring a charitable judgment of the same thing here at home, and we may reasonably expect our Northern brethren to meet us hereafter rather in a spirit of inquiry than of rebuke."

This is a gentle, and cleverly stated reminder to those who oppose extending the right of self-government to the "incompetent" natives of the islands formerly belonging to Spain, over which we claim jurisdiction, that they should not be denouncing the white people of the South for endeavoring to protect themselves from the rule of the incompetent, whom even thirty odd years or schooling have failed to much improve. It is a very clever and a very logical statement of the case for the South and may be commended to the thoughtful consideration of our Northern and Southern Republican friends.

HARD WORKED SOLDIERS.

The experience of the American army in Cuba was a picnic compared with the trials to which our soldiers in the Philippines have been subjected. The racket in Cuba was of short duration, and the ordeal of march, work and battle was of but a few days, and there our soldiers faced a demoralized foe who had but little heart in the fight and was was really anxious to surrender and get out of it. But in Luzon our men have been marching, cutting their way through jungles, harrassed at night by a saucy foe, and confronted by day by plucky fighters who fought and ran to get ready to fight again. They had not only men and jungles and impassable roads through a rugged or swampy country to contend against, but a climate even worse than that of Cuba, without the means to take care of the sick and wounded that our army in Cuba had. The wonder is that under the circumstances they held out as long as they have and accomplished what they did.

Some idea of the trials to which they have been subjected may be gathered from the petition of the Nebraska regiment of volunteers, to be called from the front and be given a respite to recuperate, after having lost in killed and wounded since the 2nd of February 225 men, nearly have the full number. This regiment may possibly be an exception, but even if so it gives some idea of the ordeal which war in that country means.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.

He was about 70 years of age. — We learn that Mr. Dave Gilmore, of Pocket township, died Monday morning while sitting in a chair talking to a neighbor. He had not been unwell before.

— Wilson News: Day before yesterday a horrible death occurred at Lr. W. P. Bullock's in Old Fields township. One of his daughters, ten or twelve years old, was caring for a child of 15 months of age in the yard. The child crawled and toddled to a pot of boiling water in the yard, falling over into the boiling water and before it could be rescued was so horribly scalded that it died.

— Concord Standard: About nine weeks ago, during a mad dog scare, Mr. David Earnhardt's dog was bitten by a dog supposed to be mad. It became necessary for Mr. Earnhardt's to kill his dog. On Sunday Mr. Jno. Earnhardt's horse took sick and since that time had numbers of convulsions until it died to-day (Friday). Dr. Griffin, our veterinary surgeon, attended the case and pronounced it a genuine case of hydrophobia.

THE LOST HOURS.

I lost two golden hours
The other day,
Somewhere among the flowers
That strewed my way;
I sought them far and near,
But all in vain;
They're gone, and I shall ne'er
See them again.

I dropped an angry word
But yesterday:
And like a swift-winged bird,
It flew away.
I followed on its track
To bring it home;
But though I called it back
It would not come.

But last night in my dream,
I seemed to see,
The lost hours and the word
Come back to me.
Now, standing on the brink
Of the unseen,
With sadden'd heart I think.
What might have been.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—— Possibly Admiral Dewey will be heroic enough to pass by that $100 per plate New York dinner. A vulgar display of money is not an inspiring sight.—Washington Post, Ind.

—— The Court of Inquiry finds that Eagan's action is purchasing nearly 7,000,000 pounds of canned roast beef was "unwarranted and reckless." but acquits him of any criminal motive in doing so. He was not a knave, then, but he must have been either a fool or a scapegoat. Now, which was it?—Philadelphia Ledger, Ind.

—— The idea of retaliating for Germany's exclusion of our beef by taxing children's toys on the pretext that they are colored with poisonous paints is unworthy of a great nation. If the toys are really poisonous they ought not to be admitted under any circumstances. If they are not, the threatened retaliation is based on falsehood, which is a weapon we cannot afford to use. An Artist's Courtship.

Mrs. Lee Bacon, in an article entitled "A Painter of Motherhood," contributes a sketch of Virginie Demont-Breton, the artist daughter of Jules Breton, to The Century. Mrs. Bacon quotes the following from Mme. Demont-Breton:

"I was only 14 years old when I first saw my uncle's pupil Adrien. I saw him only once, but for a year after I thought often of the handsome fellow of 19, with his sketches under his arm. I had thought so often of him that when at the end of a year I saw him again I was enraptured. In a few hours he was gone, and the next time we met I was 16. He appeared at intervals to consult my uncle about his work, but my feelings were such that I wondered with fear whether he had even given me a thought. I realized what it would be to me if, as was just possible, he was almost ignorant of my existence.

"Again, the third time, he came and went. Soon after my father was questioning me about many things, and about my feelings for my young playmate. He named first one, then another. I was surprised when he asked, as if by chance, what I thought of my uncle's pupil Adrien Demont. He had only to look to realize what the mere mention of this name was to me.

"It soon transpired that he had asked my father for me, and we became engaged —an engagement which was to last for three years and more. But they were not long. We saw each other every two weeks, and wrote between times, just as I am told, young people who love each other do in America."

TUXEDO SHIRT WAIST FROM HARPER'S BAZAR

A GREATER variety of shirt-waist designs have been displayed this season. They are to be had with rounded, pointed, and scolloped yokes, side-pleated, and box-pleated lower parts. This week's illustration which is taken from HARPER'S BAZAR adds to the list of waist patterns a very pretty and exclusive design of a madras shirt-waist, with pointed front yoke and a slightly rounded back yoke. There are three box-pleats in the lower part of the back of bodice, which measure one and one-eight of an inch at the top, and slope into narrower dimensions at the waist, where a double row of stitching secures them. The line for this stitching is marked on the pattern. The front of the bodice has two box-pleats, on each side of the opening, and a removable band, which reaches from collar to waist, simulates a centre pleat. A shaped collar-band accompanies the pattern, but white collar pattern is not included. The sleeves are narrower than any shown with previous patterns, and are finished with rounded turn back cuffs. The narrow velvet belt is fastened with a filigree buckle. This design may be effectively used for white fabrics in combination with "all-over embroidery and stripes of insertion between the pleats. French flannel, or the variety of figured flannel known as "Finnette," if made with bias and straight effects, will prove desirable mediums for this pretty model.

To make the garment for a person of standard size will require 4 yards of madras, gingham, French or Finnette flannel 27 inches wide, or 2½ yards of nainsook and ½ yards of "all-over" embroidery.

THE NAME.

Then giv'st me no new name, and yet to me
Upon thy lips my old, old name is new;
Many have called me thus, yet none who drew
The color to my cheek, save only thee,
Calling my name. Speak it but tenderly
And, lo, unsummoned tears o'ercloud the blue
Thou praisest in mine eyes. Can it be true
In simple names there lurks deep sorcery,
Or steals my name its glory from thy lips?
Or hast thou in the old a new one sealed,
As in a shrine for my blest gaze alone?
So to the chosen in th' Apocalypse
Was given a name hid in a pure white stone,
To him alone by grace to be revealed!
—Kathleen H. Green in New York Tribune.

THE HORSE TRAINER.

Some of the Troubles That Make Life Miserable For Him.

The trainer may not improbably have been kept awake half the night wondering whether he dare "go on" with the Derby colt or the favorite for some big race on which he has invested money he cannot afford to lose. The animal's shortened stride in his gallop yesterday was not to be mistaken, and certainly there was something suspicious about the manner in which he walked away afterward. Shall he stop him or chance it? This worry is increased by perplexity as to whether his most promising 2-year-old, so charmingly shaped, with such perfect action, did or did not whistle as she passed him. Was it the beginning of a "noise?" The boy did not hear anything, but he is stupid. A jockey shall be up when they next go out. She shall be sent a good gallop, and he will find out the worst. The morning when it dawns is dull and dispiriting. He rides out in the drizzle, gallops the 2-year-old and discovers—a fact too surely confirmed by the jockey—that she does make a noise. The Derby colt, there can be no further doubt about it, is lame, and a horse which was well in a little handicap next week with nothing to beat in fact coughs badly several times.

Breakfast is not made more agreeable by the Calendar, which shows that two horses which have been entered in forthcoming handicaps can have no possible chance, two or three belonging to other stables being "thrown in," and by some irritating remarks in the newspaper to the effect that the horse which he ran yesterday, knowing it to be in perfect condition and believing that it could not lose, had, in the opinion of the critic, been galloped to death, could obviously from its appearance have had no chance, had doubtless left the race on its training ground, with a hint to conclude with—not impossibly the critic had lost his money on the horse —that it may not have been the animal's "day out." It may do better later on, a suggestion, in fact, that it was not trying. A grumbling letter from his employer, an intimation that the only lightweight jockey who could "get out" a troublesome horse will not be able to ride and the bad news that his best foal had been kicked and had her leg broken.—"The Turf," by A. E. T. Watson.

COTTON MARKETS.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star

NEW YORK, May 13.—The cotton market commenced the day quiet and steady in tone, with prices unchanged to two points higher. Orders were few and far between, and as the session progressed speculation dropped off steadily until the apathetic conditions noted of late were complete. Practically no attempt was made by the professional element to revive interest. The working news at hand contained nothing on which to found new ideas. Liverpool futures were about unchanged; spot cotton quiet and a shade less steady; the old crop movement was moderate; the weather over the belt very favorable; crop accounts about as expected; reports from raw cotton and cotton goods markets of satisfactory average. Brokers manifested far greater interest in developments on the Stock Exchange than in the cotton market.

Sold Tickets on Him.

It is good to be a celebrity, and it is sometimes profitable merely to recognize one. While Chauncey M. Depew was at the Omaha exposition, says the New York Times, he and President Callaway of the New York Central chanced to go into a booth on the Midway Plaisance.

It was a tame entertainment, and there was only a meager attendance when Mr. Depew and Mr. Callaway entered. Their stay would have been very brief except for the fact that they had scarcely taken their seats before there began a steady inpouring of people, which continued until the small auditorium was crowded.

Taking this extraordinary increase of spectators as an indication that something of an interesting nature was about to be disclosed the two New Yorkers concluded to sit it out. Half an hour's waiting failed to reward their patient expectancy, however, and Mr. Callaway suggested that they move on.

Just then ex-Secretary of Agriculture J. Sterling Morton pushed his way through the crowd and, extending his hand to Mr. Depew, exclaimed:

"Well, Dr. Depew, so you are really here! I thought that 'barker' was lying."

"What do you mean?" inquired Mr. Depew

"Why, the 'barker' for this show is standing outside and inviting the crowd to 'step up lively' and pay 10 cents for the privilege of seeing the 'great and only Chauncey M. Depew.'"

SAVED BY A PRAYER.

HOW A MINISTER RESCUED TWO MEN FROM THE GALLOWS.

The Awful Strain and Effort Nearly Killed the Clergyman, and the Incident Resulted In Changing the Law of Canada.

"I read not long ago," said a Buffalo citizen, "an amusing account of a man who prayed against time for an object, and it reminded me of a prayer against time that I heard when I was a boy. That prayer was a serious matter, too, I want to tell you, for the lives of two men depended on it, although they didn't know it. It saved their lives, but it came mighty near killing the man who prayed. And this put me in mind, too, that only the other day in rummaging among some old papers I found a time stained sheet of paper on which was printed a poem, a dozen or more verses in length, entitled the 'Mournful Ballad of Carr and Smith.' I hadn't seen or heard or thought of that poem for 60 years, but the moment I saw it every word in those 12 verses came back to my mind, for I had read them so often when I was a boy that I knew them by heart. I will repeat you the first verse to show you what you might expect of the other 11. This is the way it goes:

"Come, all ye weeping friends, and see
Alexander Carr die on the gallows tree,
For awful crime he did commit,
To it abetted by Solomon T. Smith.
And see Solomon, he, too, will die
The same awful fate, be hung on high.
Blind Justice with her awful sword
Cuts off these two with one accord.

"Justice must have been blind indeed in the case of Messrs. Carr and Smith, for she was going to cut them off with her awful sword for the heinous crime of stealing an ox! The poet, though, wasted the time of his muse, for, although hundreds of weeping friends and others who did not weep accepted the invitation of the ballad, they did not see either Alexander Carr or Solomon T. Smith die on the gallows tree, notwithstanding that Alexander and Solomon T. were both on hand ready to be cut off with one accord. They were saved, and saved by prayer too. And that's the prayer I am going to tell you about.

"It will seem incredible that within the memory of any person now living capital punishment was the legal penalty in Canada for the stealing of live stock, but such is the fact, for I remember when that was the law there. The year this ballad was printed must have been 1832, that in which Carr and Smith were to have been hanged at the little village of Vittoria, not far from Toronto, for the alleged stealing of an ox. I was a little boy then, living in Vittoria, but I remember the circumstances well, although the main incidents I know from having them frequently related by others. Carr was a stupid minded man of middle age, and Smith was a younger man of about the same mental caliber. A farmer in the vicinity had an ox stolen one night. The skin was found in a place where Carr and Smith had been seen, and the two men were arrested, charged with being the thieves. The case made out against them on the trial seemed to satisfy the jury that they were guilty, and they were convicted and sentenced to be hanged.

"Among those who held that hanging for such a crime was no better than murder were the Rev. John Ryerson, a Baptist preacher, and Dr. Rolf, both of Vittoria. They had doubts also of the guilt of the condemned men and used all their influence for them on the trial, but in vain. The day was set for the hanging and the gibbet erected in a public place. On the morning of the day of execution Dominie Ryerson and Dr. Rolf resolved to make a final effort to save the two men. The doctor was to mount his horse and ride post-haste to Toronto and appeal to the governor for a reprieve or pardon, while the dominie, as spiritual adviser of the condemned men, was to delay the hanging until the doctor's return by exercising his privilege in prayer.

"A great, surging crowd of people surrounded the gallows when Carr and Smith were carried under the gibbet in a cart. I was one of them, having stolen from home for the occasion. The sheriff of course granted Dominie Ryerson's request to offer prayer for the two unfortunates. It was a hot day, and there was no shelter for any one from the fierce rays of the sun. No one had any suspicion that the good preacher had any ulterior motive in making that prayer, and for the first 15 minutes of it the sheriff and sweltering crowd listened with respectful patience. Then something of uneasiness began to take possession of the great audience. But the dominie prayed on. The sheriff moved about to call the preacher's attention to the fact that time was passing, and the sweating crowd began to sway and murmur. But prayer was not to be rudely interrupted even on such a pressing occasion as that, and the dominie prayed on. An hour passed. The preacher's voice had grown husky. His throat was dry and parched, his tongue almost clung to the roof of his mouth, and his lips were shriveled and cracked, but still he prayed. The condemned men themselves became impatient and showed by their looks that they longed for the good man to cease. Still he prayed, uttering words of no significance and almost inarticulate.

"The crowd became noisy in their heat and impatience, and the sheriff, at last feeling that duty should take the place of reverence, was about to take the dominie by the shoulder and compel him to cease when there was a shout heard on the outer edge of the crowd, and the people made way mechanically for a man who struggled through the surging mass toward the gibbet, waving a paper over his head. The man was Dr. Rolf, and the paper was a reprieve signed by the governor.

"At the sight of the doctor with a paper Dominie Ryerson fell insensible on the cart, and it was for a long time a matter of grave doubt whether he would recover from the effects of the extraordinary physical and nervous strain his prayer against time had subjected him to, but he came to in good time. The reprieve led to further investigation into the case of Carr and Smith, and the result was a pardon for both of them and the abolition of the death penalty in upper Canada for any crime except murder."—New York Sun.

Lot's Poor Wife.

According to Harlem Life, a Sunday school teacher was telling the story of Lot's wife being turned into a pillar of salt. One of her pupils was little Isabel, who had spent most of her life on a western cattle ranch. The teacher ended the story by saying, "For all I know, the pillar of salt may be there now."

"Say, was that a cattle country?" asked Isabel.

"Yes; I think so," replied the teacher.

"Well, let me tell you," with an air of superior knowledge, "those cattle would have licked her up long ago."

The Cheetul.

The axis, or cheetul, deer of the Indian jungle can claim to be the most ornamental of all the 36 races of deer to be seen gathered together at Woburn. In the early summer, when all the other deer except the wapiti are either shedding their horns or "in the velvet," the axis are in perfection, both of color and antlers. The large herd of this species looks as if carved out of ivory and red gold in the sunshine and verdure of English scenery. Their horns are almost white, their eyes and muzzles of jet black, their throats white and their backs and sides a brilliant golden tan, spotted with round dots of purest white. It is worth a pilgrimage to Woburn to see these deer alone. They breed constantly, sometimes producing two fawns in the twelvemonth.—Spectator.

Russian Royal Incomes.

No sovereign is so rich as the emperor of Russia, and no sovereign has such heavy calls upon his purse. The Grand Dukes Vladimir, Alexis, Serge and Paul Alexandrovitch, as well as the Grand Duke Michael Nicholajevitch, as the sons of emperors of Russia, receive from the head of the house an annual sum of 185,000 rubles, which, added to their private means, makes them very rich. The wives and widows of Russian grand dukes receive 40,000 rubles, their sons 150,000 rubles. It was the late Emperor Alexander III who made the rule that every member of the Russian imperial family must spend a part of the year in Russia or else lose a third of his or her allowance.—San Francisco Argonaut.

MARDI GRAS BALLS OF YORE.

Slaves Bearing Lanterns Led the Elegant Creoles to the Dance.

"The Mardi Gras balls in the early days were held in the first New Orleans Opera House, and since then in the present one, which today is historic," writes Harrydele Hallmark in The Ladies' Home Journal of the social life of New Orleans. "Then, as now, the floor of the Opera House was given over to the dancers. The refreshments consisted of orange flower sirup mixed with water and sugar and served with homemade cake. All the ladies walked to the place of entertainment. They could not ride because the streets were so narrow and the gutters so wide that a carriage would probably have broken down.

"On such evenings in the old days the town was given over to the laughing groups of stately gowned women who had brought over with them from Paris their silk frocks and their jeweled snuffboxes, and who kept Mme. Sophie for their dressmaker. In front of each group of splendidly gowned women were African slaves holding lanterns by whose dim light the merry groups found their way. Behind the men slaves came the women slaves, bearing the satin slippers of their mistresses in their hands.

"If the weather were too inclement for the cortege to pass through the streets in this manner, a postponement of the ball was cried through the streets to the sound of a beating drum, and the ladies who sat on the upper balconies chatted with the crier. It was understood that the ball would take place on the next fine evening. As for the street pageants, there was none. Men and women laughed and chatted in the narrow streets and pelted each other with paper balls. It was revelry without system from a pure love of gayety."

Glad, Anyhow.

"I beg your pardon. I thought this was Mr. Chucksley."

"I am Mr. Chucksley."

"Then I am glad to find that when I thought I was mistaken I was mistaken in thinking I was mistaken."

"Hey?"

"I say when I thought I was mistaken I was mistaken in thinking I was mistaken, and being mistaken in thinking I was mistaken when I was'nt mistaken I was glad to find I was mistaken when I thought I was mistaken, because I wasn't mistaken — or, rather, I was mistaken when I thought I was mistaken, and so I couldn't have been mistaken—well, at any rate, I'm glad. Looks as if we were going to have snow, doesn't it?"—Chicago Tribune.

A Lawyer's Sharp Tongue.

S. Teackle Wallis, for many years the leader of the Maryland bar, was noted for his wit and sharp tongue. On one occasion it was remarked to him that a certain law firm, suspected of not being altogether reputable, had a fine practice. "Yes," said Wallis, "their practice is better than their practices."

Of a well known judge whose opinions were generally characterized by a great vacillation and indecision of mind he once said, "Judge B. is certain of only one thing in a case and that is that there is a doubt in it."

BLOOD CURE
Sent Free!

A Cure for Blood and Skin Diseases, Eczema, Pimples, Scrofula, Blood Poison, Cancer, Kidney Trouble.

MEDICINE SENT ALL CHARGES PREPAID.

Get rid of the Bad Blood in your system and you get rid of the Diseases. Over 30 years ago Dr. Gilliam, the distinguished Atlanta specialist, discovered a scientific combination of remedies that had the effect of literally driving the poisoned, diseased matter out of the blood, bones and entire system, thus curing the disease and at the same time producing a fine constitutional effect, building up the broken down constitution.

DR. GILLAM.

This Remedy is known as B. B. B.—(Botanic Blood Balm), and has gained a wide world renown, so that it is for sale everywhere. That every sufferer may test its wonderful curative powers, a sample bottle will be sent, free of charge, and prepaid, to anyone who writes for it. This is a liberal offer, to prove at our expense that B. B. B. cures all Blood and Skin Diseases. Thousands upon thousands have been cured, even after doctors and all other remedies had utterly failed.

Have You These Symptoms?

If you have old, persistent sores, pimples, distressing eruptions of the skin, painful sores on hands, arms or legs, itching sensation, irritating skin troubles, eczema, scrofula, ulcers, Blood Poison, fever sores, mercurial rheumatism, face covered with little sores, cancer or any blood taint—then give B. B. B. a trial, because B. B. B.—Botanic Blood Balm—is made for just such cases, and it cures, to stay cured, all stubborn blood diseases. That distressing affliction, Eczema, itching skin eruptions and burning scaly sores, is always cured by the use of two to six bottles.

Cancer and Blood Poison.

Deadly Cancer of the face, neck, legs, lip, eating cancer or sores, cured by B. B. B.—Botanic Blood Balm. B. B. B. cures by driving the deadly, virulent poison, which causes cancer, out of the blood. This is the only cure, and B. B. B. is the only remedy that can do this. In the same way B. B. B. cures Blood Poison, whether inherited or acquired, producing ulcers, painful swellings, blotches, pimples, copper-colored spots, falling of the hair, sores in the throat or tongue, scrofula.

How to Obtain B. B. B.

If you feel that B. B. B is what you need, you will find large bottles for sale by all druggists for $1.00 or 6 bottles (full treatment) $5.00. For sample bottle enclose 2 stamps to pay postage and address Blood Balm Co., 149 Mitchell street, Atlanta, Ga., and trial bottle and medical book will be sent, all charges prepaid. Describe your trouble and we will include free medical advice.

The Morning Star.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

SUNDAY MORNING, MAY 14, 1899.

MR. C. R. CAPPS' DENIAL.

The General Agent of the S. A. L. Says He Has Not Been Indicted by Inter-State Commerce Commission.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NORFOLK, May 13.—Denial is made here to-day by C. R. Capps, general freight agent of the Seaboard Air Line, of the statement made in a Richmond special to a Norfolk newspaper that process had been received by United States Marshal Morgan Treat, to be served by him in connection with alleged violation of the interstate commerce law. Mr. Capps said this morning to the reporter of the Associated Press:

"I understand that the same article has been published in New York, Richmond, Baltimore and other newspapers, and it has left the impression I have been indicted by the Interstate Commerce Commission for some alleged violations of the interstate commerce law. As a matter of fact, the process referred to is nothing more or less than a supœna as witness in a case brought by the Wilmington Tariff Association regarding some alleged discrimination in rates. This report is calculated to be of some injury to me, both officially and personally, and I wish it distinctly understood that I have not been indicted for any violation of the interstate commerce law, and further that I have not violated that law in any manner whatsoever."

ADMIRAL DEWEY.

Will Leave Manila Within Ten Days for the United States on the Battleship Olympia.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

MANILA, May 13.—Admiral Dewey will leave for the United States as soon as he can arrange his business and give full instructions for the management of the fleet to his successor, probably within ten days.

The United States cruiser Olympia, upon which Admiral Dewey will make the voyage home, will sail a leisurely trip, stopping at Mediterranian ports for some time to give the admiral, the officers of the ship and the crew an opportunity for rest. Like all the Olympia's company, Admiral Dewey is much run down by his long stay in a tropical port without change and under the rigid conditions incident to a war footing. The voyage may occupy four months.

The Olympia will proceed from Manila to Hong Kong, where a fortnight will be spent in transforming the mud color with which she was painted to white, having up to this time been unable to comply with the department's order to take on white paint. At Hong Kong the cruiser will be coaled and provisioned for her further journey.

Admiral Dewey expects to retain his position on the United States Philippine commission.

PERSECUTING THE JEWS.

Exceptionally Harsh Measures Adopted by the Russian Government—Serious Outbreaks.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

LONDON, May 13.—The Russian government has decided upon exceptional measures against the Jews, doubtless owing to the intense feeling against them prevailing in many parts of Russia at the present time. The first anti Jewish measure was promulgated yesterday, under which the stay of all—even foreign—Jews is prohibited in St. Petersburg. No exemption will be made even in the case of French Jews. There have been serious outbreaks against the Jews at Nicolaieff in connection with the Easter festivities of the Greek Church. The Jews there number 30,000 out of a total population of 100,000. The rioters, who were mostly laborers, numbered 5,000. They wrecked hundreds of Jewish houses and shops, desecrated graves, and killed and injured a large number. About 400 of the rioters were arrested after several furious conflicts with Cossacks, several of whom, it is reported, were stoned or beaten to death with heavily weighted slings, with which the rioters attacked the police.

DIED AT THE THROTTLE.

Fatal Accident to an Engineer on the Florida Central.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

STILLWELL, GA., May 13.—Passenger train No. 35, on the Florida Central & Peninsular Railroad, came in here to-day with engineer Bell dead at the throttle. Fireman Ed. Washington, a few miles from this point, noticed the engineer's head hanging out of the cab window. As the train, well laden with passengers, neared Stillwell, the engineer did not change his position. Then the fireman suspected something wrong and took hold of the engineer. He fell back and the fireman saw he was dead, with a gaping wound on his head. The theory is that he was struck by the pipe of a water tank at a station ten miles distant.

STEAMER E. A. HAWES.

POINT CASWELL, May 18.

Editor of Wilmington Star:

We had the pleasure of seeing the steamer E. A. Hawes leave our shores for Wilmington under the auspices of that invincible man, Capt. D. J. Black. We say invincible, because under all, and sometimes the most trying circumstances, he is and has been the same true and faithful custodian of every interest consequent upon the positions he has held.

The steamer leaves under bright auspices; is now an object of attraction and taste, having been overhauled and refitted with great care; her new dress for Spring is exquisite.

The numerous friends of the boat and of her worthy and most efficient commandant express their most sanguine hopes and believe that a prosperous and triumphant future awaits them. JUSTITIA.

AFFAIRS AT SAN FERNANDO.

Preparations for Another Movement to Disperse Filipinos—Rebel Lines Too Close for Comfort—Transportation of Supplies Difficult.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

MANILA, May 13, 12:30 P. M.—Aguinaldo has issued orders that all foreigners must leave the insurgent territory within forty-eight hours There are only a few commercial men there, mostly English and Germans. Aguinaldo believes that by refusing them the rights of non-combatants he can force their governments to recognize the belligerency of his so-called government, in order that they may treat for the safety of their subjects.

A Filipino priest, who had talked with the Tagal General Treas, has brought to Father McKinnon, chaplain of the First California regiment, a copy of a letter written by Aguinaldo to General Treas, asking his opinion as to the advisability of surrendering, saying: "I fear that the long warfare that will be necessary to conquer the United States will drain the country's resources too much."

Another Flag of Truce.

MANILA, May 13.—The Filipinos have resumed the attempt to induce the Americans to discuss the situation. Reyes, a young lieutenant on the staff of General Gregorio del Pilar, came to General Lawton to day under a flag of truce. He was accompanied by a barefooted bugler. The two were escorted to Manila by Captain Sewall, of General Lawton's staff.

Reyes told Major General Otis that Aguinaldo desired passes for a military commission to come to Manila to confer with the American Philippine commissioners. General Otis replied that passes would not be necessary, as unarmed commissioners could enter the American lines. He would leave the matter, he said, in General Lawton's hands. Lieutenant Reyes returned this evening to Bacolor.

Situation at San Fernando.

The curtain will go down in a few days on the fighting in the island of Luzon. Working men are preparing for another act in the drama which will necessarily disperse the Filipinos.

The rebels are entrenched so close to San Fernando as to make life in that city uncomfortable while they remain in their present position. The armies of the United States have advanced so far that the question of transportation has become the great problem. To solve it, engineers are repairing the Bagbag bridge, so that it will be safe for the passage of trains and give railroad connection between Manila and San Fernando. In the meantime supplies shipped to Calumpit have to be hauled fifteen miles to Maj. Gen. McArthur at San Fernando, and twenty miles to Major General Lawton at Bacolor by bullock carts, and every cart has to be ferried separately on a raft across the Rio Grand two or three times. The roads are rough, and after the daily showers, which are forerunners of the rainy season, so soft that it is impossible to make more than a mile an hour. The few mules that are here have been found to be greatly superior to bullocks for this work. The latter die unless they are given frequent baths, and the heat has killed so many that carting is now all done by night.

Pretended Friendly Natives.

The policy of humane warfare has its disadvantages. Among the thousands of pretended friendly natives who have been returning to their homes behind the American armies, there are some who have taken advantage of the generosity of the conquerers to make the zone unsafe unless Americans go well armed and in parties. Soldiers going about alone are frequently fired upon from houses or behind bushes. During the past week it has been found necessary to send guards with wagons and ambulances, and several attempts have been made to wreck trains by placing obstructions upon the railway track.

Advices at the Navy Department.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Admiral Dewey cabled the Navy Department from Manila that he had reconsidered his plans respecting the Boston, and had concluded to allow the cruiser to come to the United States at once. The admiral said nothing further as to his own return to the United States.

The officials of the Navy Department expressed some surprise at the announcement through the Associated Press cablegram from Manila that Dewey will occupy four months in the cruise, for this period is at least twice the time that would be required to make a straight cruise homeward. However, it is supposed that he desires to delay his arrival in the United States until the hot weather of Summer has passed, being already debilitated from his long exposure to the enervating heat of the Philippines.

Spaniards Attacked.

MADRID, 13.—An official dispatch from Manila says the insurgents attacked the Spaniards at Zampianga, on the Island of Mindanao, but were repulsed. Two Spanish officers and three men were wounded and one man was killed. The insurgents cut the water supply at Zamboanga.

Encouraging Aguinaldo.

NEW YORK, May 13.—Former minister to Siam, John Barrett, returned on the steamship St. Paul to-day. Mr. Barrett has spent most of his time in the Philippines. Mr. Barrett said:

"I left Manila on the 18th. The American people do not appreciate the influence that has kept the insurgents fighting. It is purely and solely the agitation that is being waged in the United States. There has not been a speech made in Congress or any other matter of note concerning the Philippines that does not become known to Aguinaldo and his soldiers. As soon as anything detrimental to the aggressive policy is published it is immediately cabled to Hong Kong, while it is received within twenty-four hours by members of the Philippine junta and within two days is in the hands of Aguinaldo and his officers.

"The attitude of Mr. Atkinson has fallen flat among the American soldiers. The first paper that was issued in Boston, when received by the troops in Manila, was greeted with jeers and scorn, and the remark was freely expressed that it was a shame that anything so un-American could be perpetrated. The followers of Mr. Atkinson, including Mr. Bryan and several Senators opposed to annexation, cry out at the loss of life in the Philippines. They are themselves to blame for the increase in loss of life, because they encourage the Filipinos to fight by their seditious utterances. It is no exaggeration to say that if there is any influence to keep the natives from surrendering it is from the Americans and their sentiment, which they evidently hope will become so strong that the troops will be called home."

CONSTERNATION IN FINANCIAL CIRCLES.

Caused by the Death of Roswell P. Flower—A Tumult on the Stock Exchange.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, May 13.—The death of the center figure in the Flower specialties spread consternation in financial circles, as it was realized that, owing to Mr. Flower's diversified interests, a sentimental alarm would necessarily follow and the market might prove unable to absorb the deluge of long stock.

Before the market opened some brokers went to the banks and put up additional collateral on loans they had secured so as to prevent a sacrifice of their securities if the fall proved more severe than the margin of safety contained in the loans Commission houses called upon their clients for additional collateral on the stocks which were expected to bear the brunt of the attack. As a partial offset to the heavy liquidation which was promised, there was a large contingent down town whose appearance is simultaneous with a financial crisis. They are known as "bargain hunters," and take advantage of the low prices to utilize their savings in purchases of dividend paying shares for permanent investment. While some of this class have ample means to take hundreds of shares, the great bulk confine their orders to fractional lots.

Hundreds of excited people thronged the galleries at the opening to-day. In the brokers' offices pretty much the same scenes were enacted, and as the ticker relentlessly ground out the quotations which perhaps meant absolute ruin to some of the speculators, faces blanched and a look of unutterable despair settled on some of the venturesome traders. On the floor of the Stock Exchange there were but few absentees. Around the various trading posts where the Flower specialties were dealt in, were throngs of men thirty deep, awaiting the drop of the gavel to commence operations. When the signal was given there was an indescribable tumult, hoarse cries and wild gesticulations, making the scene the most tumultuous in over twenty years. When the ticker recorded the opening transactions there was a block of 25,000 shares of Brooklyn Rapid Transit at from 110 down to 100, the low point reflecting a break of 18¼ per cent. Wide openings were made in all the other Flower specialties, 11,000 Federal Steel going at from fifty-six to fifty, 10,500 Peoples Gas at from 112 to 100. Although 500 shares of New York Air Brake were traded in at the outset, the stock dropped from 185, the opening figure, to 125, the latter indicating a loss over night of sixty points. Subsequently the price recovered to 164.

The panic in the Flower issues spread to a minor extent in other properties, losses running from three to twelve points, with many of the prime securities affected. After the opening slump the market turned upward at a lively rate under the influence of enormous buying by the leading substantial interests in the street. Short covering assisted the rise, the bears taking profits as quickly as possible, now that they had succeeded in opening the market down to an advantageous level.

All sorts of costly mistakes occurred during the excitement among the trading element, one broker suffering to the extent of over $20,000. Another had a big order to buy at a fixed price and succeeded in executing the commission at a level lower than the figure placed, thereby making a profit for the customer of $60,000. Specialties in the different stocks were overwhelmed with orders, and were bought and sold so freely that many of the dealers could not tell what the net results of the operations were until the day's accounts were settled. Dealings throughout the session were on an enormous scale.

REINA MERCEDES.

The Former Spanish Cruiser Sailed From Santiago, Cuba, for the Norfolk Navy Yard.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—The Navy Department was notified to-day that the former Spanish cruiser Reina Mercedes had sailed from Santiago. She will be brought to the Norfolk navy yard, and there turned over by the Merritt & Chapman Wrecking Company to the naval authorities.

Much interest attaches to the coming of this vessel, as she is probably the only one of the captured Spanish ships of any size which will be in condition to be brought to this country. The Mercedes was the ship sunk in the channel at the entrance of Santiago harbor as a means of barring it to the warships. After the fall of Santiago an inspection of the sunken ship showed that she was in fairly good condition, as she had not been sunk in action, but by the opening of her port holes. A contract was made with the wrecking company by which they agreed to deliver her to the Norfolk navy yard, part of the pay for service being conditioned on the successful execution of the work.

CATHOLIC KNIGHTS.

Supreme Council Elects Officers and Adjourned Sine Die.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

KANSAS CITY, MO., May 13.—The twelfth biennial convention of the Supreme Council Catholic Knights of America adjourned sine die to-night. St. Louis was accepted as the city of permanent headquarters. The following officers were elected:

President, P. J. O'Connor, of Georgia; vice president, William Bluestee, of Texas; secretary, J. C. Carroll, of Norfolk, Va.; treasurer, Girard Reiter, of Vincennes, Ind.; trustees, William A. Kelley, of Kansas City, and J. C. Purcell, of Pennsylvania.

FEDERAL PRISONERS.

Investigation of Complaints of Ill-Treatment in the State Prison at Raleigh.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Maj. Strong, general agent for the Department of Justice, has returned from Raleigh, N. C., where he investigated complaints of ill-treatment of prisoners in the Federal jail. While Attorney General Griggs declines to discuss the nature of the report on the case, it is understood that five prisoners were found to have been whipped, but that the prison officials cannot be prosecuted, as they have not violated any law.

GENERAL GOMEZ ACTING QUEERLY.

Will Not Agree to Have Arms in Arsenals Under American Control.

DELAYING TROOPS' PAYMENT.

A Cuban Colonel Calls Upon Cubans to Resist the Americans With the Same Energy With Which They Fought the Spaniards.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

HAVANA, May 13.—General Gomez is acting queerly regarding the distribution of the $3,000,000 advanced by the United States government for the payment of the Cuban troops, and the commissioners chosen by him to assist in the distribution as representatives of the fourth, fifth and sixth army corps, either refuse to act or fail to appear. As the arrangements to pay the soldiers have been pending for three and a half months, further delay is especially annoying.

This evening General Brooke sent Major Kennon, of his staff, to see Gomez regarding the situation. Gomez declared that he was unable to explain why the Cuban generals appointed would not serve, and expressed the belief that their action was due to the influence of his enemies. He said also that he would call upon General Brooke on Monday.

Gomez's New Attitude.

Senor Nolasc, Gomez's secretary, said to night that Gomez would not agree to have the arms in the arsenals under control of the Americans, and wanted them to be in the custody of the Cubans exclusively. As Gen. Gomez saw the order regarding the disposition of the arms before it was made public and approved it, this is a new attitude. The fact seems to be that the Cuban commander feels that he is losing his hold upon Cuban opinion. He has been startled by the caricatures and attacks which have appeared in the local press, and wishes apparently to prolong the payment of the troops and thus gain time for his political manœuvres; and, possibly, to withdraw altogether from the negotiations, laying the blame for his course upon General Brooke, and then to lead a violent anti-American party.

General Gomez is said to be greatly disappointed at being unable to get General Brooke to agree to his suggestion for an army of 15,000 men.

A Call to Cubans.

The Cuban Colonel Enrique Collazo, in a letter to La Lucha, published today, sounds an alarm and calls the Cubans to witness the danger of the country in longer submitting to the Americans. In his communication Colonel Collazo says:

"The conclusion is logical that we cannot serve Cuba and America, their ideas being contradictory. We are treated as enemies, our customs are destroyed, and we are compelled to speak English. The Americans have proved the falsity of the promises they have made and our ideal of independence is endangered. Fighting as we fought, to abandon it to-day is impossible. The moment has arrived, without doubt, when we should unite with the same energy with which we fought the Spaniards."

The writer declares further that the McKinley administration is the mortal enemy of the Cubans.

General Mayara Rodriguez has received a telegram from Santiago, signed "Veterans," saying: "Wire the amount it is decided the soldiers shall receive. The soldiers of the province refuse to deliver their arms."

Rodriguez replied that each man's share would be $75.

A meeting of army officers will be held on Sunday to decide finally upon the acceptance or refusal of the American terms.

READING R. R. WRECK.

Twenty-Eight Persons Killed and Fifty Injured—Cause of the Disaster Still a Mystery.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

READING, PA., May 13.—The wreck which occurred last night on the Philadelphia & Reading Railway at Exeter, six miles south of here, was probably the worst that has ever occurred in this State. Twenty-eight dead and fifty injured, some so badly that they may not recover, is the awful result of the accident. The cause of the disaster is still involved in mystery, and the officials of the road are investigating in order to place the blame. The man in the signal tower at Exeter station claims to have had the signals properly displayed.

In a statement to-day General Superintendent Sweidard, of the Reading Railway, said the prime cause of the accident was a block of freight cars on the track, which compelled the Express to stop at Exeter. It is not known as yet whether a signal man was sent back to notify the special or second section.

A strange feature was the fact that not one woman was killed and only one injured.

Norristown is in mourning, as the greatest number of the dead and injured were residents of that place.

FORTY-NINTH IOWA.

Mustered Out at Savannah and Many of the Men Arrested.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

SAVANNAH, GA, May 13.—The forty-ninth Iowa regiment was mustered out to-day and after being paid off the men raided soda water stands and sausage wagons in the camp, took all the stuff and turned over the wagons.

The police were called out in large numbers and many arrests were made. The men were hauled into police barracks in patrol wagons and trolley cars. The police station is packed with them and the recorder will hold a special court to try the cases.
